Persons with Perceptual Disabilities

"Perceptual disability" means a disability that prevents or inhibits a person from reading or hearing a literary, musical, dramatic or artistic work in its original format, and includes a disability resulting from:

- a) severe or total impairment of sight or hearing or the inability to focus or move one's eyes,
- b) the inability to hold or manipulate a book, or
- c) an impairment relating to comprehension. Impairment is defined as any loss or abnormality of psychological, physiological, or anatomical structure or function.

I certify that I am a person with a perceptual disability based on the above definition, found under Chapter C-42 of the Canadian Copyright Act. I understand that the library reserves the right to ask for verification from a competent authority* at any time.

* Competent authority is defined to include doctors of medicine, ophthalmologists, optometrists, registered nurses, registered therapists, professional staff of hospitals, institutions and public or welfare agencies (eg. Social workers, case workers, counsellors, home teachers and superintendents). In the case of reading disability from organic dysfunction, "competent authority" is defined as doctors of medicine who may consult with colleagues in associated disciplines.
