

Connecting Community. Sharing Knowledge. Inspiring Stories.

Library Month and Beyond

Every October, libraries across Canada celebrate Library Month to raise awareness of libraries and highlight all the ways libraries enrich the lives of people in our communities. NVDPL had a fantastic time celebrating the occasion with a variety of activities, contests, programs, and more. One of the biggest highlights was hosting special visit with Inuit and Arctic storyteller, Michael Kusugak. Michael taught a crowd of 30 children and adults about life in the North West Territories through oral stories, which have been passed down by his grandmother.

Fittingly, NVDPL also proudly unveiled its new Strategic Plan 2017-2019, a visioning document which focuses on three key priority areas: Collaborate with our Community, Transform our Digital Environment, and Expand Community Learning.

It was a great month celebrating the work we do and our patrons!

Take a look at a few of the 2016 Library Month highlights:

1. Strategic Plan
2. Michael Kusugak
3. Library Month display
4. DEAR Day with Mayor Richard Walton

COMMUNITY COMMENTS

What our patrons are saying about NVDPL

“ I think your library has provided me with an opportunity to grow as a person. The availability of books that are either new or of lasting value is especially evident when I go to your site. You are indeed making it a joy to be living in this community. Without your resources and dedication to the public North Vancouver would be a sadder place to reside....My dependency for the Library for intellectual stimulation has exceeded most other outlets including commercial enterprises who more than often do not offer the same wonderful experience of perusing a vast field of free materials...Thanks for all your great work, especially the reference assistance available at all times. ”